There is no explanation for this. Maybe it's truly nothing/ I'm sure you did nothing wrong/ I never said you did-i just asked how much you and he talk and you said almost never - you swore to me over and over on your kids on beaus grave that you never call him he never calls you you maybe see each other at Starbucks

You have so disappointed me devastated me. I'm headed to D.C. Then California. If you ever find the need to apologize do it in person because I'll never answer your phone call again. Goodbye.

I'm sorry you're right...again. I just can't so it anymore. It's not fair to you. You don't deserve this and you made a choice/ I couldn't have been more clear- may not be fair but there was I question about what i needed from you. Answer the phone if you want to know where I left something for you.
