Dilworth : What's the actual problem?
Inattention to care in dying

Stop talking about burden of care

1.447m aged 85 2030 - 3m aged 85 or more fantastic

£150b £3000 per person retirement society more in social security benefits higher level earnings growth, income or price pensions

£7000

half of NtB budget goes to elderly as baby boom gets into 70s perhaps domiciliary care - No choice they get worse - residential care

£250k - home - value not counted most people want to stay in home people going into homes too early - because local authority get hands on home

When an old person leaves hospital 2x as likely to go into residential care as clinically clinically advisable emphasis is on getting people out fast

Some people want to go into residential care

But the system has a bias towards 1948 we spoke about social care

On average you might have social care of 6 months of social care

Not as big as NtB or social security on average it's not very big but you won't get a 6.5 as pension or healthcare.

87% → the amount and as we were spending in 2010

But we are doing had to make payments to keep councils going.

Incontinence - she was a teaching assistant they used her to be in residential care - everyone is welcomed Nobody looks after her

They still have her for £250k

For just 35 & under - £40,000 a time.

She's started to wish she was dying
She thought she would be able to leave money

4 years in - she continues to like by exhaust her pocket of cash home

Wishes for high income has lost her home & will

There aren't any tests that have to shape - someone outcome

1943 Committee talks about National of national insurance scheme

The magic of a merger to the value of the masses.

Social care is not only what we face when we're pooling & the risk

2 people ^{at 20} with face us with social care

Why doesn't private sector provide insurance I could buy health insurance for cost year

Impact of Aggregate Shocks

Makes insurance impossible

You can't have private insurance
You could have social insurance

NHS poses the whole risk

You could do that People don't feel they should pay nothing

They feel they should make some contribution

She doesn't know what the aggregate cost will be

Everybody wants the cheapest

→ So you have businesses going to demand curve is flat

Good There are some differences between prices for the same costs or the total costs gets a decent cover a grand home

Why take the terror away by having a cap on the lifetime spend

If the cap is £50k - you'd have a insurance market

Why doesn't home to sell her home - there's a dependant dependent scheme mostly she doesn't want to sell her home

State could make it possible for insurance to move it?

Check out nurses

Free personal care - comes care at home

Free domiciliary care in Scotland (care is not required -

Separate care costs to hotel costs

You could have an annual cap on it

Cap for poor £ 7.46

£ 7 for day 4 or 5 years delegating power

Income question have decreased

Would have been better to spend it

Social care

Washing dressing eating drinking going to 100

disabled people as 50% of cost of care

Free care - 1 in 6 of working population particularly women of middle age who care for their partners

You can get lots of women outside
We are treating women very badly

We put pressure on women caring for unemployed.

They want a good well-funding care system

They are not worried about running out of money
They are worried the care won't be as good

They assume it's part of the NHS
I've paid my share

By 1990 it was cradle to grave

And they say that was free

People with it's free by with someone will look after to enough stuff

1.4m have some unmet need for
social care

NHS should provide older people w. significant care needs for hospitals will grind to a halt the more like the NHS we can make social care lots of people get stuck in the middle

You do need to pool
