

ORIGINS OF THE CABAL - PART 1

The Bible is one of the oldest history books on Earth. It is a proven fact that the locations and people in this ancient text are real. This is how to find the origins of the cabal.

The Old Testament of the Bible explains the way of life people had from the end of Noah's flood until the birth of Jesus Christ. It was a way of life that every major ancient civilization took a part in. This time period in history is when the Cabal became accustomed to alchemy and sacrifices that they still use today.

The cabal is a group of people that have had complete control of the Earth and its people for a very long time. They control through their passion to own land, hoarding ungodly amounts of valuables, controlling the leaders of the world, and doing it by any means necessary. For them to do this they have to rid themselves of all morals, destroy their own spirit and let the demons of the underworld control them. The demons and false gods they praise and sacrifice for have been in existence since the dawn of time.

He put a new song in my mouth, a hymn of praise to our God. Many will see and fear the LORD and put their trust in him. Blessed is the one who trusts in the LORD, who does not look to the proud, to those who turn aside to false gods. Many, LORD my God, are the wonders you have done, the things you planned for us. None can compare with you; were I to speak and tell of your deeds, they would be too many to declare. (Psalm 40:3-5)

These false gods are the fallen angels that God cast down for their sins in heaven. Ever since that moment, these angels have been manipulating broken and evil souls to do their bidding. The cabal openly embrace these fallen angels because this is how you become part of the elite on Earth. The cabal only allows in fellow fallen angel worshipers.

These false gods are the real leaders of the cabal by constantly making their followers sin for more power and greed. Every early civilization believed in false gods and built temples for them because of the earthly desires that would follow when they did. These false gods don't operate in an earthly realm but a spiritual one where they can infiltrate many people from all over the world at the same time. Therefore, when you look up these early false gods, they move through time and into different civilizations but represent the same false god.

Thou shalt have no other gods before me. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: (Exodus 20:3-4)

The followers of the false gods turned into devil worshipers as time moved on. In modern demonology there are three Gods that are worshiped above all: Astarte, Baal and Satan. Only two of these false gods can be traced to beginning of time, so this is how we can trace the origins of the cabal. Satan is only mentioned in the Bible from these early civilizations but his influence over the other ancient false gods is obvious.

The False Gods

There have been thousands of false gods throughout history, but there are only two, I could find, that morphed their way into multiple civilizations from the beginning of time to present day:

Astarte and Baal. They represent many known false gods of many different cultures where one portrays a seductive female that uses alchemy, while the other portrays a savage male associated with human / animal sacrifices and lightning.

In the next section I will go over these two false gods that all began in Mesopotamia and have become multiple different gods in different religions and mythology throughout time. This will show you how these original cabal gods have infiltrated every aspect of popular culture and have become normalized.

Astarte

Astarte was known to the Sumerians as Inanna, to the Egyptians as Isis, the Hurrians as Ishara or Shaushka, Babylonians as Ishtar, Canaanites as Astarte, the Greeks as Aphrodite, Romans as Venus, the Norse as Freyja or Frigg and modern day satanists as Astaroth. Astarte still represents these gods to this day.

In the Sumerian religion, she was known as Inanna, and was an ancient goddess of love, war, and fertility. She is also associated with beauty, sex, justice, and political power. She was known as the "Queen of Heaven" and was the patron goddess of the Eanna temple at the city of Uruk, which was her main cult center. There is a story of her descent into and return from the ancient Mesopotamian underworld, ruled by her older sister Ereshkigal.

The Babylons changed the name Inanna to Ishtar and used the same beliefs as the Sumerians for their false goddess.

In the Egyptian religion, she is known as Isis, the maternal aid was invoked in healing spells to benefit ordinary people. Originally, she played a limited role in royal rituals and temple rites, although she was more prominent in funerary practices and magical texts.

The Canaanite Religion is where Astarte came from because that is where the Bible mentions her. A different narrative, so-called "Myth of Astarte the huntress" casts Astarte herself as the protagonist, and seemingly deals both with her role as a goddess of the hunt stalking game in the steppe, and with her possible relationship with Baal.

The Star of Ishtar or Star of Inanna is a Mesopotamian symbol. The owl was also one of Ishtar's primary symbols. Ishtar is mostly associated with the planet Venus, which is also known as the morning star.

God uses owls to represent uncleanness and loneliness in the Bible. Therefore, owl symbolism is used so frequently by the cabal. It connects them with the false god of Astarte and it represents sinful activities. Bohemian Grove's large sacrificial owl statue was used to sacrifice to Astarte.

“For the LORD has a day of vengeance, a year of retribution, to uphold Zion’s cause. Edom’s streams will be turned into pitch, her dust into burning sulfur; her land will become blazing pitch! It will not be quenched night or day; its smoke will rise forever. From generation to generation it will lie desolate; no one will ever pass through it again. The desert owl and screech owl will possess it; the great owl and the raven will nest there. God will stretch out over Edom the measuring line of chaos and the plumb line of desolation. . . . The owl will nest there and lay eggs, she will hatch them, and care for her young under the shadow of her wings” (Isaiah 34:8–11, 15)

In Greek culture she is known as Aphrodite and was also the patron goddess of prostitutes, an association which led early scholars to propose the concept of "sacred prostitution" in Greco-Roman culture, an idea which is now generally seen as erroneous.

In Roman mythology, she is known as Venus, the ancestor of the Roman people through her son, Aeneas, who survived the fall of Troy and fled to Italy. Julius Caesar claimed her as his ancestor. Venus was central to many religious festivals and was revered in Roman religion under numerous cult titles.

In the Nordic mythology, Astarte is known as Freyja and rules over her heavenly field, Fólkvangr, where she receives half of those who die in battle. The other half go to the god Odin's hall, Valhalla. Astarte is also known as Frigg because she is the wife of Odin, the all father of the Norse religion, and represents marriage, prophecy, clairvoyance and motherhood.

In Satanism Astarte is known as Astaroth. Just like the Seal of Solomon, Astaroth has a lesser key of Solomon known as the Seal of Astaroth. These represent sigils for 72 different demons in demonology.

Baal (Beezelebub)

Baal was known to the Sumerians as Hadad, the Egyptians as Set, the Babylonians as Marduk, the Canaanites as Baal, the Greeks as Zeus, the Romans as Jupiter, the Norse as Odin or Thor and modern day satanists call him Bael. Baal still represents these false gods to this day.

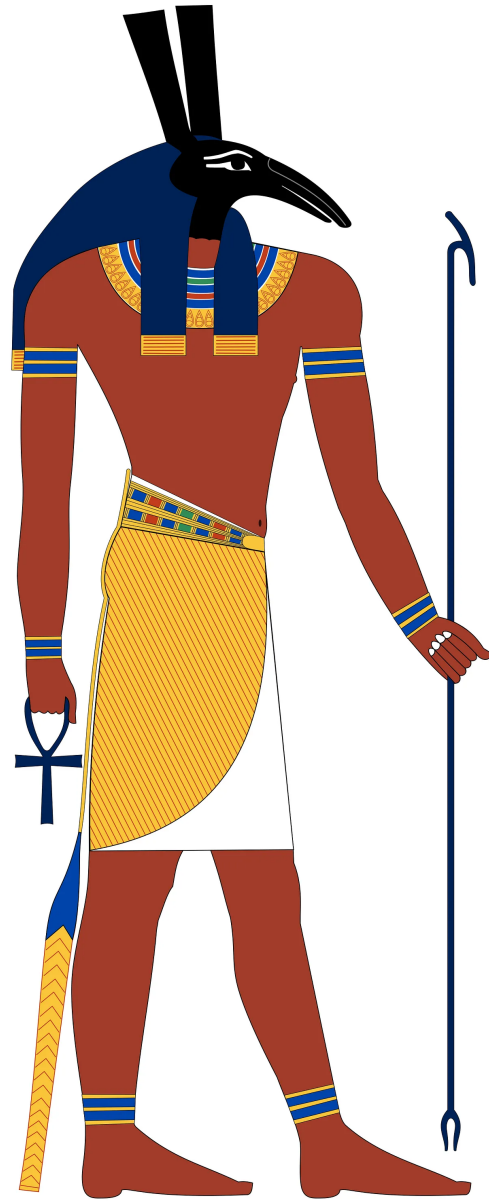

Baal was known as Hadad to the Sumerians, where he is the storm and rain god in the ancient Mesopotamian religions. The bull was the symbolic animal of Hadad. He appeared bearded, often holding a club and thunderbolt while wearing a bull-horned headdress. This is because God saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven.

He who hears you hears Me, he who rejects you rejects Me, and he who rejects Me rejects Him who sent Me." Then the seventy returned with joy, saying, "Lord, even the demons are subject to us in Your name." And He said to them, "I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven. Behold, I give you the authority to trample on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall by any means hurt you." (Luke 10:16-19)

In the Egyptian religion, Baal was known as Set, a god of deserts, storms, disorder, violence, and foreigners in ancient Egyptian religion. The Egyptians recognized this powerful foreign god as one of their own, and the image of Set was always included when scribes wrote the name of Baal in hieroglyphs.

The Canaanite Religion is where the name Baal comes from. The Baal Cycle, also known as the Epic of Baal, is a collection of stories about the god Baal from the Canaanite area who is also referred to as Hadad, the storm-god. This collection of stories is dated between 1400 and 1200 B.C. and was found in Ugarit, an ancient city located in modern-day Syria.

Baal worship is known as Moloch, which is a form of child sacrificing to the false god with a burning bull statue. It is said to have boiled children alive in the bowels of a big, bronze statue with the body of a man and the head of a bull. Offerings, at least according to some inscriptions in the Hebrew Bible, were to be reaped through either fire or war.

The reason the Bible is split into two sections is because of the birth of Jesus Christ and Christianity, which built its religion off the Old Testament. The New Testament used the word Beelzebub instead of Baal to describe Baal because the word translates into 'lord of the flies'. Beelzebub is referenced in the Book of Kings in the Old Testament, referring to a deity worshiped by the Philistines.

Jesus knew their thoughts and said to them, "Every kingdom divided against itself will be ruined, and every city or household divided against itself will not stand. If Satan drives out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then can his kingdom stand? And if I drive out demons by Beelzebul, by whom do your people drive them out? So then, they will be your judges. But if I drive out demons by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God has come upon you." (Matthew 12:25-28)

Baal's name comes from the Canaanite false god's religion. In the Testament of Solomon, Beelzebul (not Beelzebub) appears as prince of the demons and claims to cause destruction through tyrants, to cause demons to be worshiped among men, to excite priests to lust, to cause jealousies in cities and murders, and to bring on war. The Testament of Solomon is written by King Solomon, in which the author mostly describes demons whom he enslaved to help build Solomon's Temple, with substantial Christian interpolations.

When Babylon became the political center of the Euphrates valley in the time of Hammurabi (18th century BC), Baal became Marduk and he slowly started to rise to the position of the head of the Babylonian pantheon, a position he fully acquired by the second half of the second millennium BCE. In the city of Babylon, Marduk was worshiped in the temple Esagila.

Baal then became Zeus, when he was the sky and thunder god in the ancient Greek religion, who rules as king of the gods of Mount Olympus. He was respected as an all father who was chief of the gods and assigned roles to the others: "Even the gods who are not his natural children address him as Father, and all the gods rise in his presence." Sacrifices to Zeus before Olympic games were common.

Jupiter was the chief deity of Roman state religion throughout the Republican and Imperial eras, until Christianity became the dominant religion of the Empire. In Roman mythology, he negotiates with Numa Pompilius, the second king of Rome, to establish principles of Roman religion such as offering, or sacrifice. Sacrificing to Jupiter was ordered by the Roman emperors to their citizens or sentenced to death.

Baal then became known as Thor, where he is a prominently mentioned god throughout the recorded history of the Germanic peoples, from the Roman occupation of regions of Germania, to the Germanic expansions of the Migration Period, to his high popularity during the Viking

Age. Baal is a combination of Odin and Thor because the Nordic religion split Zeus into two to represent their most powerful gods. Odin is the all-father and Odin strikes down with lightning. Human sacrifices to Odin also happened regularly during the Viking age.

In modern times Baal is known as Bael in satanism. Bael has a lesser key of Solomon known as the Seal of Bael

The Sins of the Early Civilizations

This is not a timeline of events but rather a glimpse into the early civilizations of Mesopotamia, Canaan, Egypt, Greece, and Rome. The Bible is the only book of historical accuracy from this time period, and it explains how each civilization collapsed due to their worship of false gods. The cabal was formed in this mesh-pool of false god worship.

Sumerians and Babylonians

In Genesis 10 of the Bible, it describes how Noah's descendants formed the world after the Flood. There is one son that is detailed more than the others as to where he went and what cities he established. Nimrod, the son of Cush and the grandson of Noah established many cities of human civilization in Mesopotamia.

And the sons of Ham; Cush, and Mizraim, and Phut, and Canaan. And the sons of Cush; Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabtecha: and the sons of Raamah; Sheba, and Dedan. And Cush begat Nimrod: he began to be a mighty one in the earth. He was a mighty hunter before the LORD: wherefore it is said, Even as Nimrod the mighty hunter before the LORD. And the beginning of his kingdom was Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the land of Shinar. Out of that land went forth Asshur, and builded Nineveh, and the city Rehoboth, and Calah, And Resen between Nineveh and Calah: the same is a great city.- (Genesis 10:6-12)

The Jewish-Roman historian Flavius Josephus, in his Antiquities of the Jews (94 AD) recounted history as found in the Hebrew Bible and mentioned the Tower of Babel. He wrote that it was Nimrod who had the tower built and that Nimrod was a tyrant who tried to turn the people away from God. In this account, God confused the people rather than destroying them because annihilation with a Flood had not taught them to be godly.

The Tower of Babel was being built in the city of Babylon, which is the first city in the Bible that God condemns. Despite its many wonders, Babylon worshiped pagan gods, chief among them Marduk, or Merodach, and Bel, as noted in Jeremiah 50:2. Besides devotion to false gods, sexual immorality was widespread in ancient Babylon. While marriage was monogamous, a man could have one or more concubines. Cult and temple prostitutes were common.

The prophets mention Babylon as both a warning of punishment for Israel and an example of what displeases God. The New Testament employs Babylon as a symbol of man's sinfulness and God's judgment. In the book of Revelation, Babylon again stands for Rome, the capital of the Roman Empire, the enemy of Christianity.

Isaiah 14 seems to confirm that the ultimate destruction in view is one related to the second advent of Christ and the Day of the Lord. The satanic power behind Babylon addressed as “Lucifer, son of the morning” (14:12) is portrayed both in his original rebellion against God and in his ultimate judgment. The destruction of Babylon is related to the judgment upon “all the kings of the nations” (14:18).

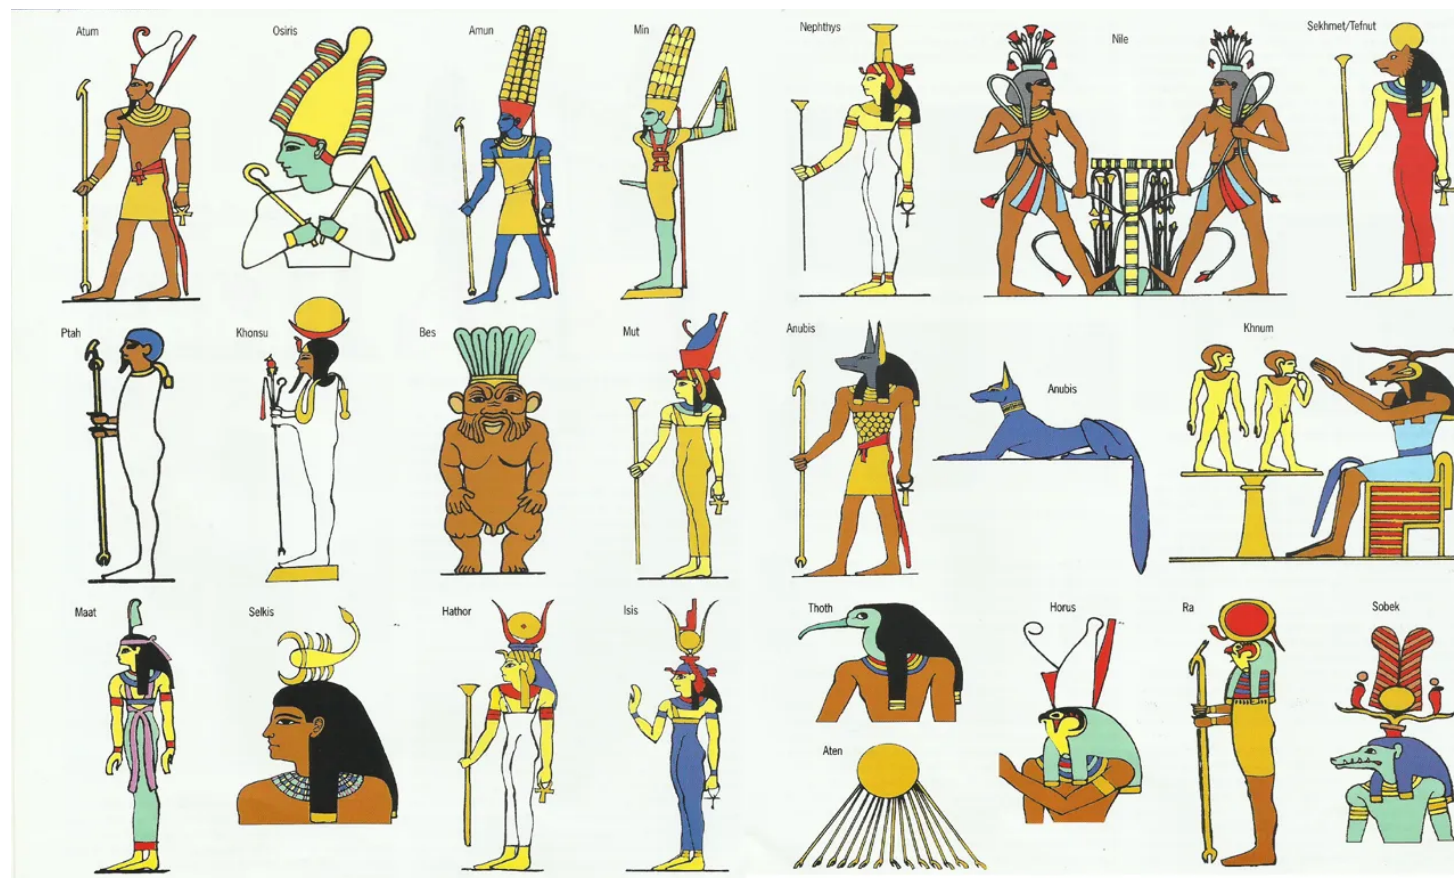

1500 years after the tower of Babel, fall of Babylon marked the end of political rule of Babylonian rulers, much of the Babylonian culture, its pagan religions, and its ideology were continued in the kingdoms which followed. Babylonian influence was perpetuated down through the centuries especially in ancient pagan religions.

Egyptians

The Egyptians worshiped over 40 false gods but none of them were mentioned in the Bible.

Egypt is synonymous with the Exodus and Moses in the Bible. Moses tells the Pharaoh to let the Jewish people go to their promise land in Canaan but the Pharaoh refuses.

God begins inflicting the Plagues of Egypt on the Egyptians for each time that Moses goes to Pharaoh and Pharaoh refuses to release the Israelites. Pharaoh's magicians are able to replicate the first plagues, in which Yahweh turns the Nile to blood and produces a plague of frogs but are unable to reproduce any plagues starting with the third, the plague of gnats. After each plague Pharaoh allows the Israelites to worship Yahweh to remove the plague, then refuses to free them.

This was God's way of destroying the Egyptian false god narrative because each plague corresponded with a different false god of Egypt. For example, a frog was how Heket, the god of fertility, appeared in ancient Egyptian art. Frogs were viewed as sacred objects. In making the frogs appear, God was demonstrating his superiority to this false god. The elimination of the plague of the frogs, God affirmed his supremacy: ultimately it was he who was the source of life, not the Egyptian fertility god.

10 DEATH OF FIRSTBORN Exodus 12:29-36	This plague was a judgment on all of Egypt's gods, including Pharaoh himself. In Exodus 1, Pharaoh had killed the sons of Israel. Now the Lord kills the firstborn sons of the Egyptians (Exodus 11-12). Pharaoh will now let Israel go. He will later lose his army to death in the Red Sea (Exodus 14:4-31).

The plagues also exploded the myth that the Egyptians could control nature. Ancient Egyptian civilization was founded on the premise that it was possible to manipulate nature—that through a system of canals and highly developed agricultural practices that a society could flourish in a desert. The plagues revealed that the Egyptians' control of nature was just an illusion.

The LORD answered Moses: See! I have made you a god to Pharaoh, and Aaron your brother will be your prophet. You will speak all that I command you. In turn, your brother Aaron will tell Pharaoh to let the Israelites go out of his land. Yet I will make Pharaoh so headstrong that, despite the many signs and wonders that I work in the land of Egypt, Pharaoh will not listen to you. Therefore I will lay my hand on Egypt and with mighty acts of judgment I will bring my armies, my people the Israelites, out of the land of Egypt. All Egyptians will know that I am the LORD, when I stretch out my hand against Egypt and bring the Israelites out of their midst. (Exodus 7:1-5)

The plagues took almost everything away from the Egyptians—their false gods, their natural resources, and their sense of control. Plagues have a way of stripping things down to their essentials. The false gods of Set and Isis were able to continue their influence into Canaan after Moses left for Canaan with his chosen people.

Canaanites

The land of Canaan, which comprises the modern regions of Jordan, Israel, Palestine, Lebanon and Syria. Sodom and Gomorrah are two of the five "cities of the plain" referred in Genesis 13:12 and Genesis 19:29 subject to Chedorlaomer of Elam, which rebel against him. At the Battle of Siddim, Chedorlaomer defeats them and takes many captives, including Lot, the nephew of the Hebrew patriarch Abraham. Abraham gathers his men, rescues Lot, and frees the cities.

Sodom and Gomorrah were two legendary biblical cities destroyed by God for their wickedness. Their story parallels the Genesis flood narrative in its theme of God's anger provoked by man's sin. They are mentioned frequently in the prophets and the New Testament as symbols of human wickedness and divine retribution.

Later, God gives advance notice to Abraham that Sodom had a reputation for wickedness.

Abraham asks God "Will you sweep away the righteous with the wicked?" (Genesis 18:23).

Starting at 50 people, Abraham negotiates with God to spare Sodom if 10 righteous people could be found.

God sends two angels to destroy Sodom. Lot welcomes them into his home, but all the men of the town surround the house and demand that he surrenders the visitors that they may "know" them. Lot offers the mob his virgin daughters to "do to them as you please", but they refuse and threaten to do worse to Lot. The angels strike the crowd blind.

The angels tell Lot "...the outcry against its people has become great before the Lord, and the Lord has sent us to destroy it" (Genesis 19:13). The next morning, because Lot had lingered, the angels take Lot, Lot's wife, and his two daughters by the hand and out of the city and tell him to flee to the hills. Lot says that the hills are too far away and asks to go to Zoar instead. Then God rains sulfur and fire on Sodom and Gomorrah and all the Plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and what grew on the ground (Genesis 19:24–25). Lot and his two daughters are saved, but his wife disregards the angels' warning, looks back, and is turned into a pillar of salt.

Sodom and Gomorrah, or the "cities of the plain", have been used historically and in modern discourse as metaphors for homosexuality, and are the origin of the English words sodomite, a pejorative term for male homosexuals, and sodomy, which is used in a legal context under the label "crimes against nature" to describe anal or oral sex (particularly homosexual) and bestiality.

1000 years later, the sins of Sodom of Gomorrah and the Sumerian / Babylon / Egyptian false gods have become abundant during the time of the construction of Solomon's Temple. Most Solomon's 700 wives and 300 concubines all believe in these false gods and pull Solomon away from God, even after God blessed him with unrivaled wisdom and wealth.

In my ‘The Ancient Occult Religion of Freemasonry’ thread I explain how the Freemasons idolize King Solomon, the Seal of Solomon and his temple. The reason they do this is because occult magic through demon worship has its origins here. God gave King Solomon a ring with a pentagram on it that would seal demons away and do whatever the wearer wishes. The Temple of Solomon was built with this ring and power of the enslaved demons inside of it.

Greeks

Greece was not mentioned many times in the Bible but there are a couple of quotes that mention the false gods of the culture. With the worship of false gods comes wickedness of the people and ugly traditions that become normalized.

In fact, all Athenians and the foreigners staying there would spend their leisure time doing nothing else but telling or listening to something new. (Act 17:16)

For instance, while passing along and carefully observing your objects of veneration, I found even an altar on which had been inscribed 'To an Unknown God.' Therefore, what you are unknowingly worshiping, this I am declaring to you. (Act 17:21)

Virgins Only - This couldn't have been more apparent during the Olympics in ancient Greece. Virgin girls could watch the Olympics. They were encouraged, in fact, because they would try to hook up with the athletes while the adult women couldn't. With the sole exception of the Priestess of Demeter Chamyne, who would watch over the Olympics on top of an ivory altar.

Naked Athletes - The last foot race of the Olympics would be the Hoplitodromos. The competitors would come to the starting line with a helmet on their heads, metal guards on their shins, and a shield in their hands. They carried 50–70 pounds of armor with them, and they would be expected to run in it. They wore nothing else and couldn't wear clothes. They were just naked people in helmets and shin guards.

Murder Sports - The chariot races were incredibly deadly. There would usually be about 40 chariots on the tracks, and as they turned, their wheels would lock together. Some would go flying off-course and crash, while others would go flying right into the audience. In one case, a race started with 21 chariots, but by the time it ended, only one was left standing. The sport claimed countless lives, usually in front of a cheering crowd. That may well be why the wealthy people who owned the chariots typically didn't ride them. Instead, they would hire other people to ride in the chariot race for them and could still win an Olympic wreath for paying someone else to risk his life.

Mass Prostitution - Prostitutes and parties were huge parts of the Olympic games. Women from all over the Mediterranean would travel out to the Olympics to sell their bodies. People threw drunken parties that evolved into orgies and went on until dawn. Some wouldn't sleep throughout the whole games, and hardly anyone would take a bath. Sacred prostitution, also known as temple or cult prostitution, involved various activities in ancient times, many of which that occurred in Greece were in some way related to the Greek goddess Aphrodite and the Greek city of Corinth.

Eating Animal Testicles - The Greeks viewed testicles as a performance-enhancing drug, so they would figure out that there was a connection between testicles and masculinity. Athletes would also try to place curses on their opponents. There are stories from the Olympics that tell of athletes veering off course or not making it to the starting block, mistakes the Greeks chalked up to magical hexes.

Ritual Sacrifices - The Olympics began with the athletes entering a temple. There, they stood before an imposing statue of Zeus brandishing his thunderbolts. A sliced piece of a boar flesh would be put before them, and they would have to swear an oath to the gods over it, promising to obey the rules of the games. It was a strange way to start, but it was nothing compared what was to come. The real highlight came on day three, when a procession of 100 bulls were marched to the Great Altar of Zeus and ritually slaughtered by priests before a crowd. Some of the meat would get eaten, but the animals' thighs would be burned to a crisp as a sacrifice to the gods. Greeks would call this Hecatomb.

Romans

There aren't that many specific details about the roman empire in the Bible because the New Testament focuses on the birth of Jesus Christ and his teachings. The ancient roman religions had over 100 false gods and many involved strange occultism.

Augury - This is the practice from ancient Roman religion of interpreting omens from the observed behavior of birds. When the individual, known as the augur, interpreted these signs, it is referred to as "taking the auspices". In the occult world, this is considered magic.

Lobronse Del.

Haruspicy - In the religion of ancient Rome, a haruspex was a person trained to practice a form of divination called haruspicy, the inspection of the entrails of sacrificed animals, especially the Ok, last by not least! The links in here helped me a lot. May they help you to see the bigger picture too. Have you watched the Fall of the Cabal Series yet? It is how I started to learn about the Cabal. Here is the link. This one is the Current stuff about them I believe. Mostly about the King of evil, BILL GATES. <https://www.bitchute.com/video/uWCEnegjL5HI/> It's 10 short videos.

This one is The Sequel to The Fall of the Cabal,...it's the History of the CABAL. Not from a Religious View point though, just a historical one. <https://www.bitchute.com/video/BRizDPuLs8c4/> This is the best one. It helps so much to see how they started and where they came from....and where they are trying to take us now! It starts when they first popped into existence and who they were. They were the Khazarians from near Ukraine.

Back to the beginning, I think History is like Government; religion has no place there. History must be kept separate because there are an endless number of them, and One Religion can't Control the Narrative of the Planet. Good behavior, decency, honor, kindness, love and faith is inside of Humans already. Most of us are born with it. Very few people who are evil do it without knowing they are evil. They make the choice to do wrong mostly because they profit from it., and don't care if it's not right. Some people seem to just have no feelings for others. It's sad. But it's not mystical, the devil didn't "Make" them evil. People are born different, raised differently and learn different things.

There are people who are Darker than the Moon...the Moon...the Moon...the Moon... (The people who are the

Any way, I've been on this Soap Box long enough,....I hope I didn't hurt your feelings, it is time for the Waking up of Humanity. We need to see just how these Cabal of Globalists have been controlling us and our History for 1000's of year. Don't be blinded by their rhetoric and their really false prophets! LOL! They created them to keep Humans down and under their control.

The Christian Church is not one of the "Good" ones. More evil has been done by the Holy Roman Empire,....emphasis on EMPIRE, than many other religions. I would not BRAG and Boast about it.

You obviously have not read the "The Naked Bible: The truth about the most Famous book in History". It is an eye opening interview with the Top Translator (Scholar) of the Old Testament's original Hebrew for both the Vatican and the Jewish Council. Take a look, and open your eyes to a totally different view of the book you think was narrated by your god.

One of the most important things a human can do right now is to be open to new information and be able to let go of information that is not valid any more. One reason we are where we are today is because people can't imagine that there is a Group of Elites that want to depopulate the planet. A group that owns almost everything and are in Control of the Planet! They must open their eyes and see the bigger picture,....take in new information and evolve.

I was raised Catholic, my parents showed us such a beautiful faith,....we had a magical childhood! But after I was an adult, both my parents left the Christian faith, my Mother became a Theist. Believing in a kind and loving god who was close to his creatures, all of them; animals, plants, humans....everything.

My Father, who had studied Theology before he married, became a Buddhist. They were totally fed up the false legend of the Vestal Virgins. The Catholic Church never took back the beloved Father Pat... And his suicide was the last straw. No, he wasn't a pedophile, he just wouldn't take direction from the special chamber was built to seal away any unchaste Vestal Virgin until she starved. The Women who controlled his tiny Church sacrifice was seen as a necessary means to please the Gods for the infraction of the Vestal Virgin. But it was my daughter and myself we Wiccans that equal Father's subjected to human sacrifice. He was about 14, she's in her 30's now! Wicca is an Earth Based Religion. Based on the Seasons of the Planet. Makes children were also sacrificed by drowning. The sacrifice of children largely came from the belief that they were evil or damaged.
