

ORIGINS OF THE CABAL - PART 5

From 1950 to present day the cabal only cared about one thing: controlling every part of a humans life. By creating a mindless modern society, they were able to accomplish these goals.

anon_fa_mous

Sep 24

The Rothschilds and Rockefellers managed to convert the world to use oil after the world wars. Their monopoly of oil gave them unlimited power over the majority of nations and they used that to push their evil agenda. Free energy has been suppressed by them, which is why they control both oil and the green energy technologies. As long as they control the energy, they are in power.

Consider becoming a free subscriber to receive emails of new articles or a paid subscriber to comment and support my work.

Thomas Edison suppressed Tesla

The Rothschilds controlled Europe and its territories, while the Rockefellers controlled the United States and its territories. Their ultimate goal is to enslave every person on Earth so they needed a plan to do that. The Rockefellers helped construct the UN on their land, while the Rothschilds convinced England to turn their colonies into Central Banking nations post WWII.

Jacob Rothschild and David Rockefeller

Establishing Central Banks

After WWII, the cabal had complete control over the superpowers of the world but they didn't have complete control over every person on planet Earth. They knew the only way to do this was to own and control a nation's money supply. The cabal already had established 45 central banks but they wanted a bank in every major country in the world. Their plan would go on to be called the Cold War.

During this time period the cabal would setup the United Nations to encourage these nations to become modernized through establishing a central bank and to become independent. The major colonial superpowers of France, the Netherlands and the UK would force their colonies to become independent through cabal operated revolutions. Most of these colony revolutions were the result of either US intervention or USSR intervention. The US would go into these colonies to push Democracy and the USSR would go into other ones to push Communism but the end result was always the same.

The profits from oil during WWI and WWII were so abundant that they would plan more wars to feed their greed addiction. Don't you find it odd that the Cold War was between the US and USSR but there were no battles fought on either superpower's soil? These two nations were also the main suppliers for oil during WWI and WWII and they needed more proxy wars to continue raking in their profits.

In order for a war to happen in these colonies, conflicts and revolutions needed to look organic and natural. There also has to be a major propaganda campaign in both home countries to make it seem there is a 'Cold War' happening between the two countries. This is where the work of intelligence agencies comes in. The CIA was the arm of the US cabal and the KGB was the arm of the USSR cabal. I go over this in THE CREATION OF THE CENTRAL BANKS thread.

During this time period, most of the US Presidents were part of Secret Societies and were part of the Cabal's plans. I go over this in THE SECRET SOCIETIES OF ALL 45 PRESIDENTS thread. With most of the US Presidents working with the Cabal, they managed to turn every US citizen into their own personal cash cow without them even knowing it.

Citizen Wage Suppression

To understand the cabal's system, we need to break it down. Everyone knows the phrase, climbing up the ladder. The cabal is at the top of every ladder you can climb. They are at the top of politics, business, intelligence, etc. Success in today's day and age means becoming closer to the cabal. This is an important fact moving forward.

Ever since the French Revolution, income tax has been slowly integrated into every country. In every country, income tax began because of war and was left there after the war was over. For instance, in the US it was the Civil War when it first appeared but it wasn't made a permanent fixture in the U.S. tax system until 1913, the same year the Federal Reserve was created.

PROVISION FOR TAX ON INCOME IS PART OF CONSTITUTION

Senator Brown's Amendment to Fundamental Law is Ratified by Thirty-Seven States.

WYOMING PUTS IT ACROSS LINE

Measure is Rushed Through Both Houses in Record Time.

TWO OTHER STATES FOLLOW

New Mexico and Delaware Not Far Behind in Race.

CONGRESS WILL PASS LAW

Act Probably Will Provide for Tax on All Incomes Above Five Thousand Dollars a Year.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Direct taxes of citizens of the

SENATOR

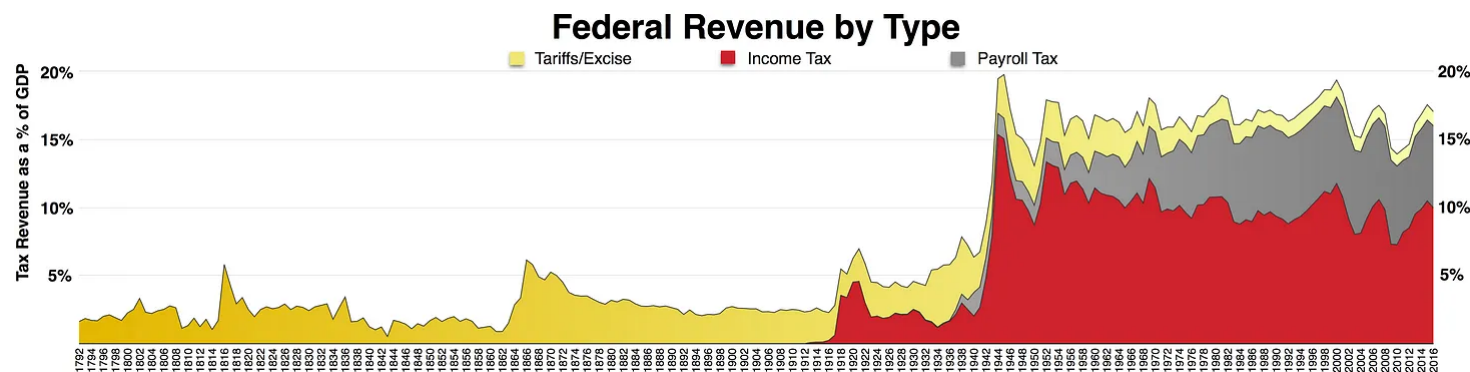

His Income Const

HIGH HON

Modestly C to Fact t Has R

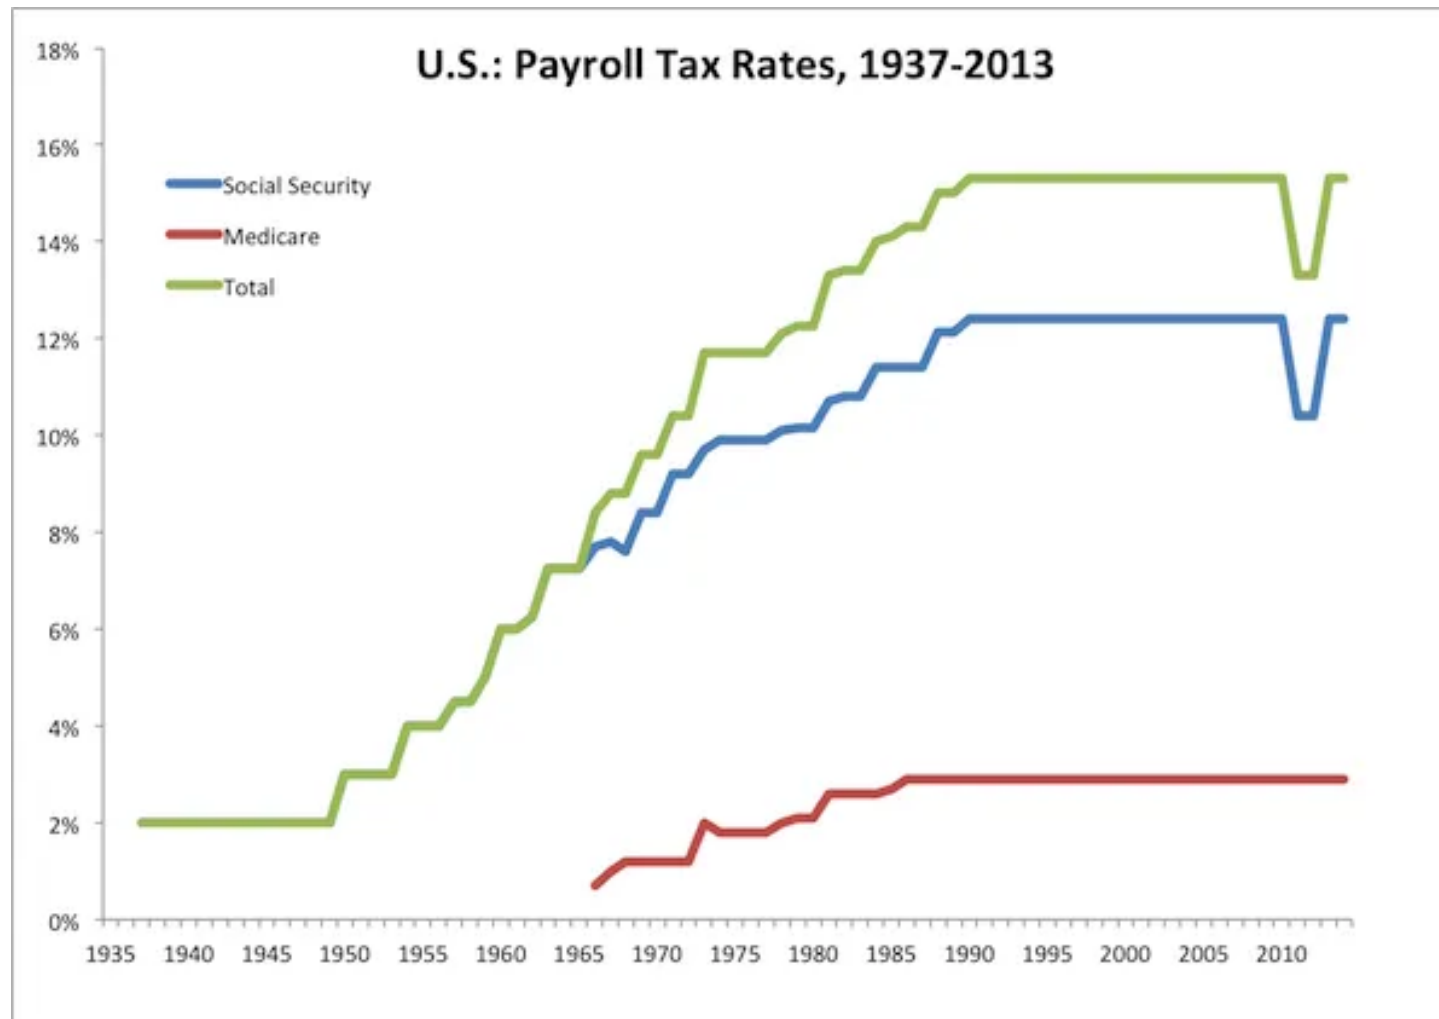

(From WASHINGTON gram.)—Who afternoon re thirty-six s tures had r ment. Wyo and tuck fr of the cons flected the thor of t amenmen While ti simple lan pressive, the suppo passage been well lfe and to be ser ing at th for ratifi It is no attached

The Federal Tax Rates during WWI and WWII hit 90% in the US. So the citizens built the machines for war, paid for the war, died in the war while the cabal made ungodly amounts of money with oil. The cabal were the people that started the war and they didn't have any expenses since the citizens were paying for it. In the graph below, you can see during WWII, income and payroll introduced themselves to the American public.

History of US Taxes

After WWII, the cabal needed to find a way to keep taxing the citizens. What better way to do that than to tax their hard earned money every paycheck with the payroll tax.

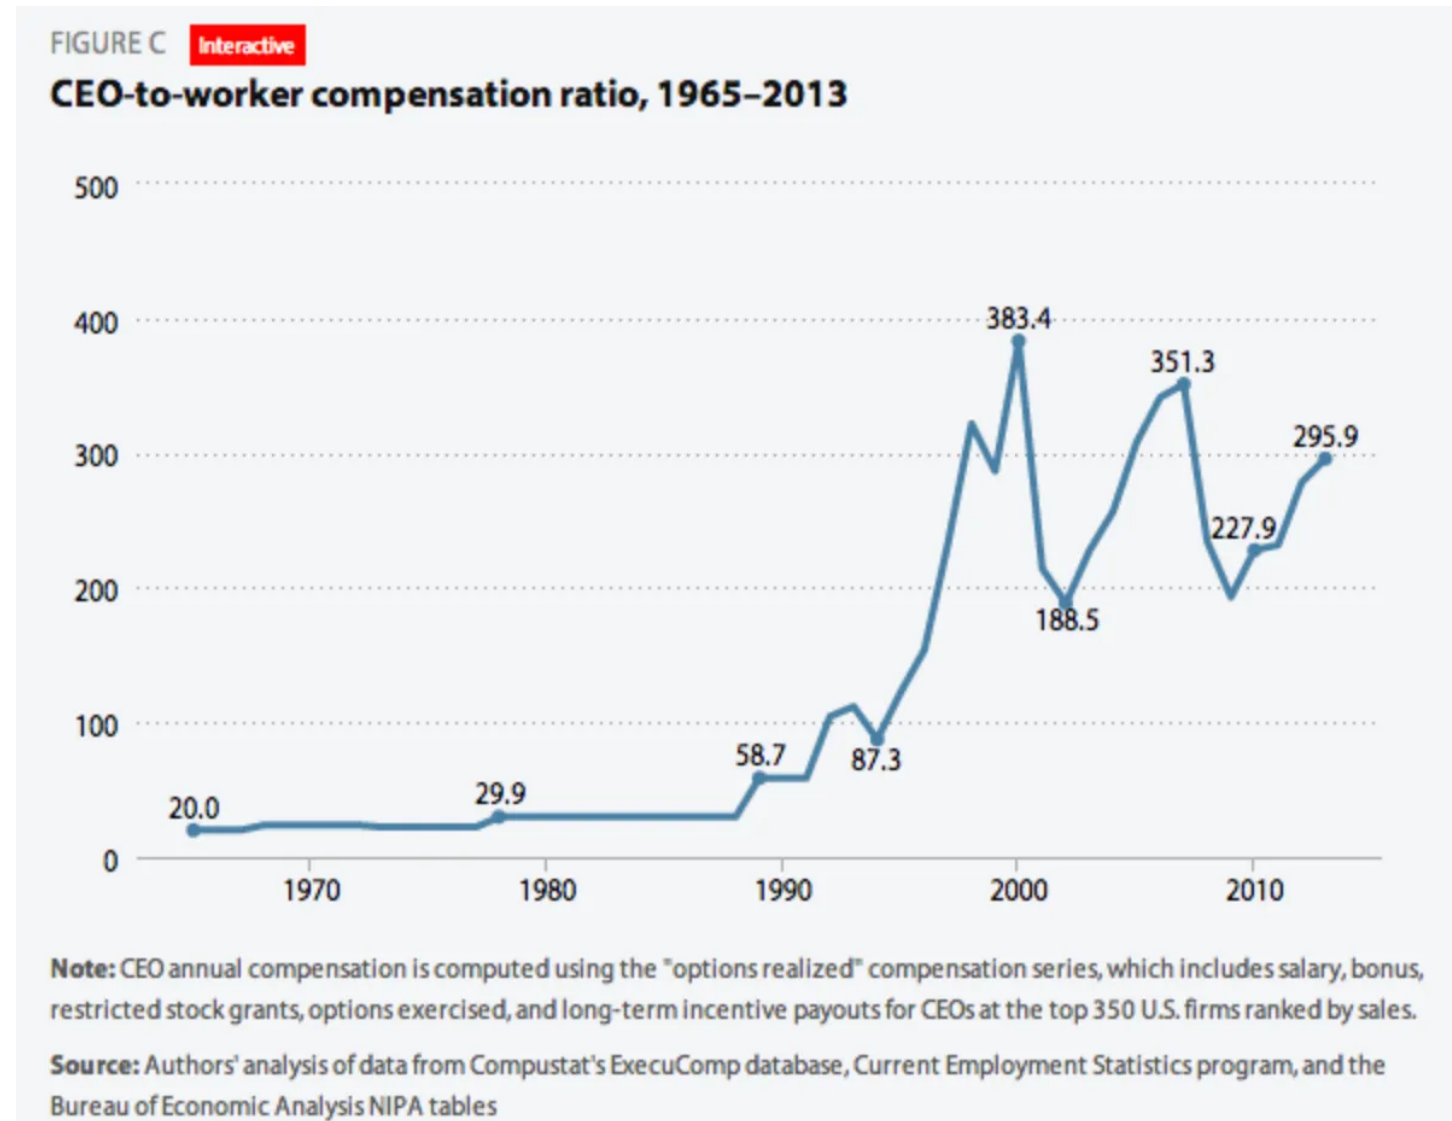

Taxing the citizens has slowly been rising while taxing corporations has slowly been decreasing since the 1950's.

The US Government and the cabal favor corporations because they can influence and effect the public. Low taxes on corporations and high taxes on the citizens cause a major rift in the organizational structure of business. This causes owners and executives of companies to not care about their employees and only care about a bigger paycheck and there's no one stopping this trend or mentality. This is exactly what the cabal wants: a suppressed and angry majority.

Inflation has been rising since the formation of the Federal Reserve in 1913 but it really took off when the US went off the gold standard on August 15, 1971. This was known as the ‘Nixon Shock’, which was when the American dollar went off the Bretton Woods System and became a freely floating fiat currency.

The biggest issue with being taken off the gold standard is how wages don't get accounted for in the rise of prices. Companies and business's continue to grow and produce more, due to inflation, while wages aren't accounted for. This results in more suppression of a citizen's paycheck and lack of resources to the common worker.

Growing Wage and Productivity Gap is Our Central Economic Challenge

Cumulative percent change since 1973

Source: Economic Policy Institute analysis of unpublished Total Economy Productivity data from Bureau of Labor Statistics' Labor Productivity and Costs program, wage data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Current Employment Statistics, Bureau of Labor Statistics' Employment Cost Trends data, and the Bureau of Economic Analysis' National Income and Product Accounts

This is how suppressed the citizens have been since being taken off the gold standard in the 1970's. The $11/hour minimum wage in 2017, which is roughly equivalent to $10.75 today, will still be shy of the minimum wage's 1968 level, adjusted for inflation. The economy has grown a lot since then. The new $11/hour level is still about $10/hour less than what the minimum wage would be today if it had grown in step with overall economic productivity. Providing an even more striking contrast is growth in average CEO compensation, which has skyrocketed over recent decades. The state minimum wage would be $119.81/hour if it had grown at the same rate as CEO pay since 1979.

Minimum Wage Today If It Had Grown As Much As . . .

Bureau of Labor Statistics; Economic Policy Institute analysis of Current Population Survey and BLS data

The minimum wage has actually lost value when you adjust it to inflation. The cabal needs to have these massive corporations under their control because this is the only way to make their central bank scheme work. When inflation rises, these companies are the ones that are responsible for the wages of their employees. When more money gets pumped into the system, the executives only care about increasing the size of their bank account. Increasing wages is the last thing they want to do because this will break the cabal's system that gives them this massive power.

The real value of the federal minimum wage is worth 43% less than its peak value in 1968

Minimum wage

Source: U.S. Department of Labor; U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

Houses and Rent continue to become more expensive due to inflation. The housing market is a perfect example of how the cabal have disrupted community thinking. The homes that Americans need to live in are being treated as investments, which in turn blows up the prices of houses, making it even more difficult for people to buy. Major corporations have been buying up rental properties and houses, then reselling it at a higher price.

US Nationwide:

- Median House Price
- Median Gross Rent per Month
- Median Household Income

Growth rate:

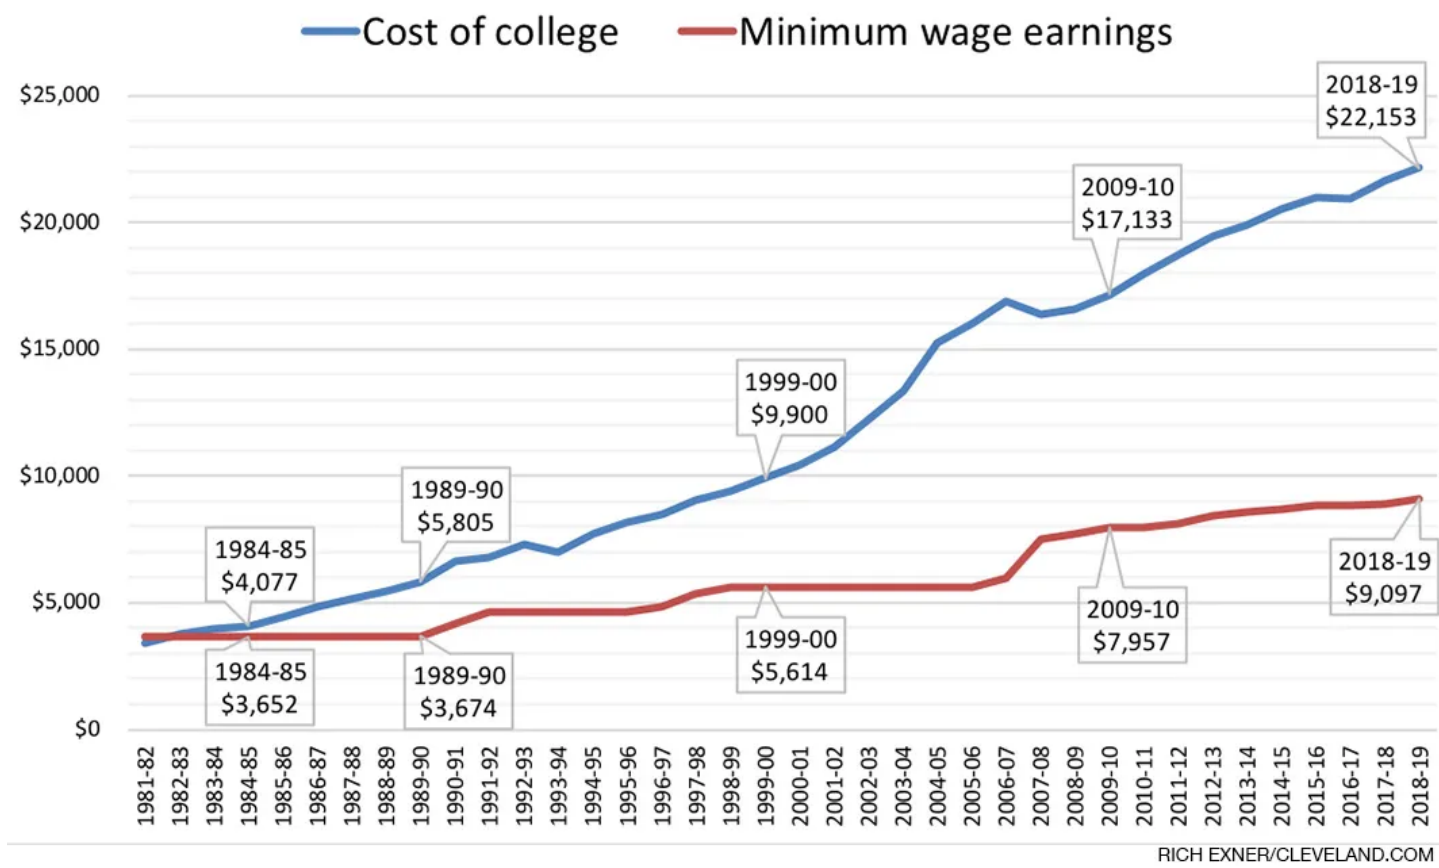

150%

College tuition continues to become more expensive due to inflation. The most interesting thing about colleges is that the biggest expense and profit maker for a college are the football games.

This is by design to keep the majority of the public brainwashed from what is actually happening to America. American Football is the most popular sport in America because every high school has a large stadium for football, colleges have an even larger stadium and the NFL has the largest. It's a massive 'Bread and Circus' scheme that keeps a large amount of the population asleep.

Cost of Ohio public universities and what is earned by working at minimum wage full-time during breaks and 10 hours a week during school year

Corporations

The power of corporations couldn't have been more evident when Putin invaded Ukraine. The majority of large global corporations shut down most of their Russian facilities and left the people of Russia with none of their products. The same CEO's who are suppressing their employees wages, while increasing their own, are all working together and have become the arms of the cabal.

Left the Russian market

FULLY OR PARTIALLY, AS OF 2 MARCH 2022

Exxon just reported second-quarter profits of $17.9bn, more than three times what it earned a year ago. Chevron's profit more than tripled to $11.6bn. They're buying back their shares of stock to reward investors and executives.

P&G reported another quarter of rising profits despite the increasing costs of raw materials and transportation. How did it manage this feat? By raising its prices even more. Meanwhile, half of the recent rise in grocery prices is from beef, pork and poultry. Just four large conglomerates control these markets, and they've been coordinating their price increases to score large profits – here again, using “inflation” as an excuse.

If markets were competitive, companies would keep their prices down to prevent competitors from grabbing away customers. But they're raising prices even as they rake in record profits. Sixty of some of the largest U.S. companies paid zero federal income taxes in 2018 despite being profitable. The average S&P 500 CEO made 300x more than the median employee received. The average compensation for S&P 500 company CEO's was $15.5 million. These people only care about thing: fattening up themselves and the other executives.

S&P 500 Companies

This creates a terrible cycle within a psyche of the average citizen because they see these 'successful' people with money and want to be like them. This causes greed to become the bedrock of a nation and people forget to think about their society as a whole.

When a little change happens over a long period of time, it's barely noticeable and that's the point. To keep people from digging too far into their scheme they needed to implement an education system that pushed out a worker mentality. An obedient mentality that can't question anything or you get suspended or fired. This system was designed by them to sit at the top of the ladder / pyramid. Getting promotions and climbing a ladder that will never get you to the top but involves pushing your other co-workers down with no regard to their lives. It is the destruction of a community mindset and the push for an individual one.

The Factory Worker Education System

The state led ‘factory school’ originated in the early 19th century Prussia, where educational curriculum, methods of teaching and learning were standardized and regimented under requirements of the state and governments. The idea of education was impersonal to promote professionalism and efficiency. The individuals interests, needs, desires, and creativity were domesticated and conditioned under requirements of the ruling and non-ruling classes. In this way, the formal and modern educational system emerged from factory schools, which continue to serve the elites classes in different forms for last two centuries.

“[The aim of public education is not] to fill the young of the species with knowledge and awaken their intelligence. . . . Nothing could be further from the truth. The aim . . . is simply to reduce as many individuals as possible to the same safe level, to breed and train a standardized citizenry, to put down dissent and originality. That is its aim in the United States. . . .” – Henry Mencken, The American Mercury, April 1924.

Factory School

The Prussian factory school model and the spirit of its educational system survived from class education to mass education, which promised to bring coherence to higher education systems in Europe.

Prussia Factory School

The factory school model of education transformed the educational system based on the priorities of capitalism. The marketization and corporatization of education has transformed students to cash cows, teachers as shopkeepers and educational institutions as shop floors. Such an educational system is neither representing the life experiences of people nor their everyday requirements. It produced skilled professionals, who work like orderly objects with disciplined hands and closed lips. The social, economic, cultural and educational alienation is the net outcome of such an educational system practiced worldwide.

*Much of this education, however, was not technical in nature but social and moral. Workers who had always spent their working days in a domestic setting, had to be taught to follow orders, to respect the space and property rights of others, be punctual, docile, and sober. The early industrial capitalists spent a great deal of effort and time in the social conditioning of their labor force, especially in Sunday schools which were designed to inculcate middle class values and attitudes, so as to make the workers more susceptible to the incentives that the factory needed. As (Northwestern University economist Joel Mokyr explains it)*

Our education system

Everybody is a genius. But if you judge a fish by its ability to climb a tree, it will live its whole life believing that it is stupid.

The industrial revolution created jobs that never existed before. For previous generations artisans and farmers mostly worked out of their homes and set their own hours.

The American public schools are purposely designed to be mind-deadening factories that propel students into brain-dead jobs or straight into the arms of the prison-industrial complex. From the other side, public schools are excoriated as retirement parks for lazy unionized teachers to indulge their habit of force-feeding the innocent on Marxist propaganda.

Between 1950 and 1970, sending a kid to a public university costed about 4 percent of an American family's annual income. Forty years later, in 2010, it accounted for 11 percent. Moody's released statistics showing tuition and fees rising 300% vs. the Consumer Price Index between 1990 and 2011. College tuition and fees have increased 1,120% since records began in 1978. As states have cut their education budgets, students have been forced to borrow heavily to make up the shortfall. Students now graduate with an average debt of $28,000, but for long courses such as medicine, it is very much more. For example, two physicians in the United States graduated with debts of $250,000 and $400,000 respectively.

A Debt Built System

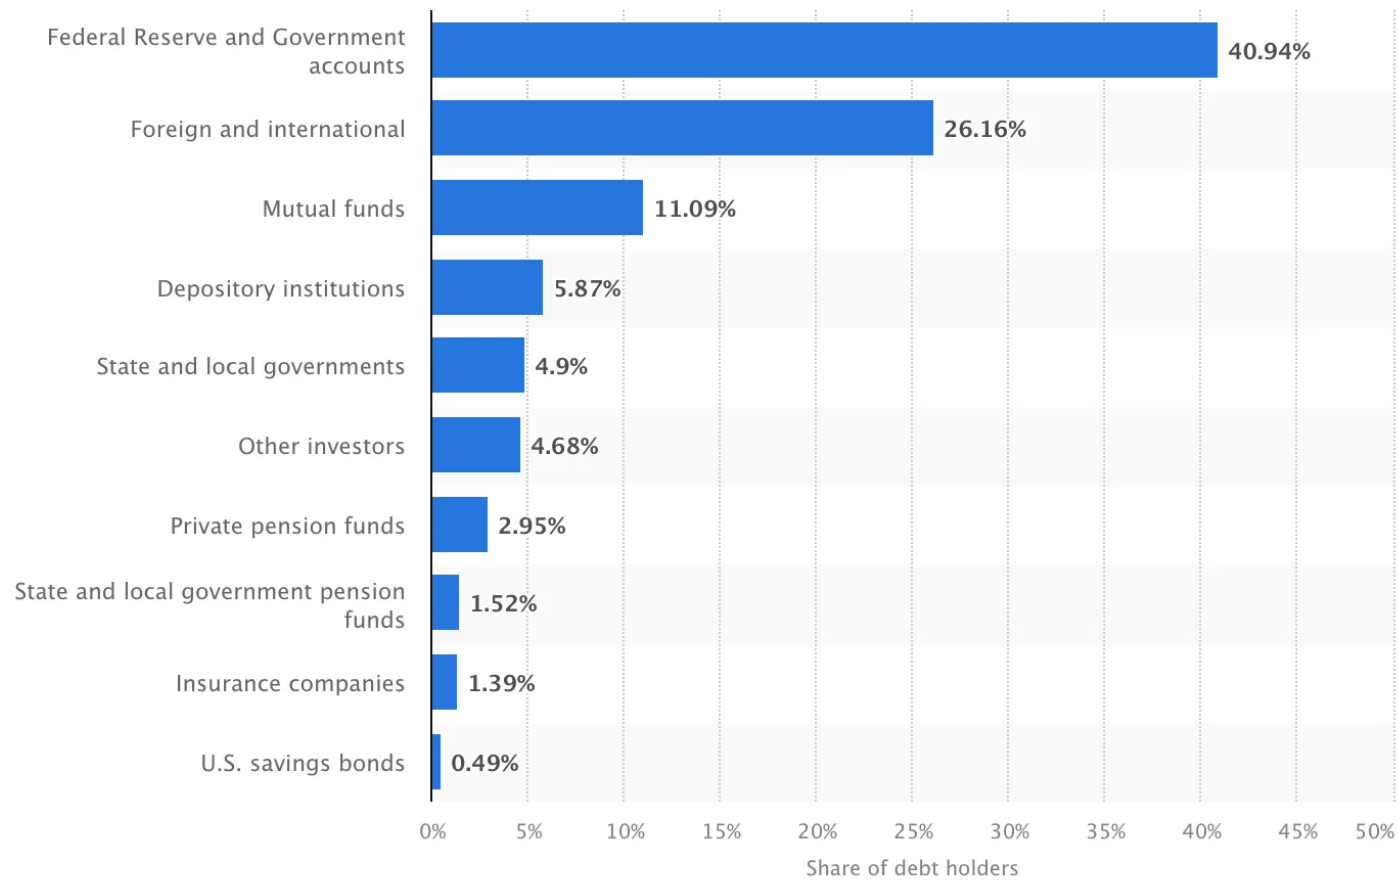

The United States federal government has always had public debt since its formation in 1789, except for about a year during 1835–1836. This was during the presidency of Andrew Jackson who completely paid off the national debt.

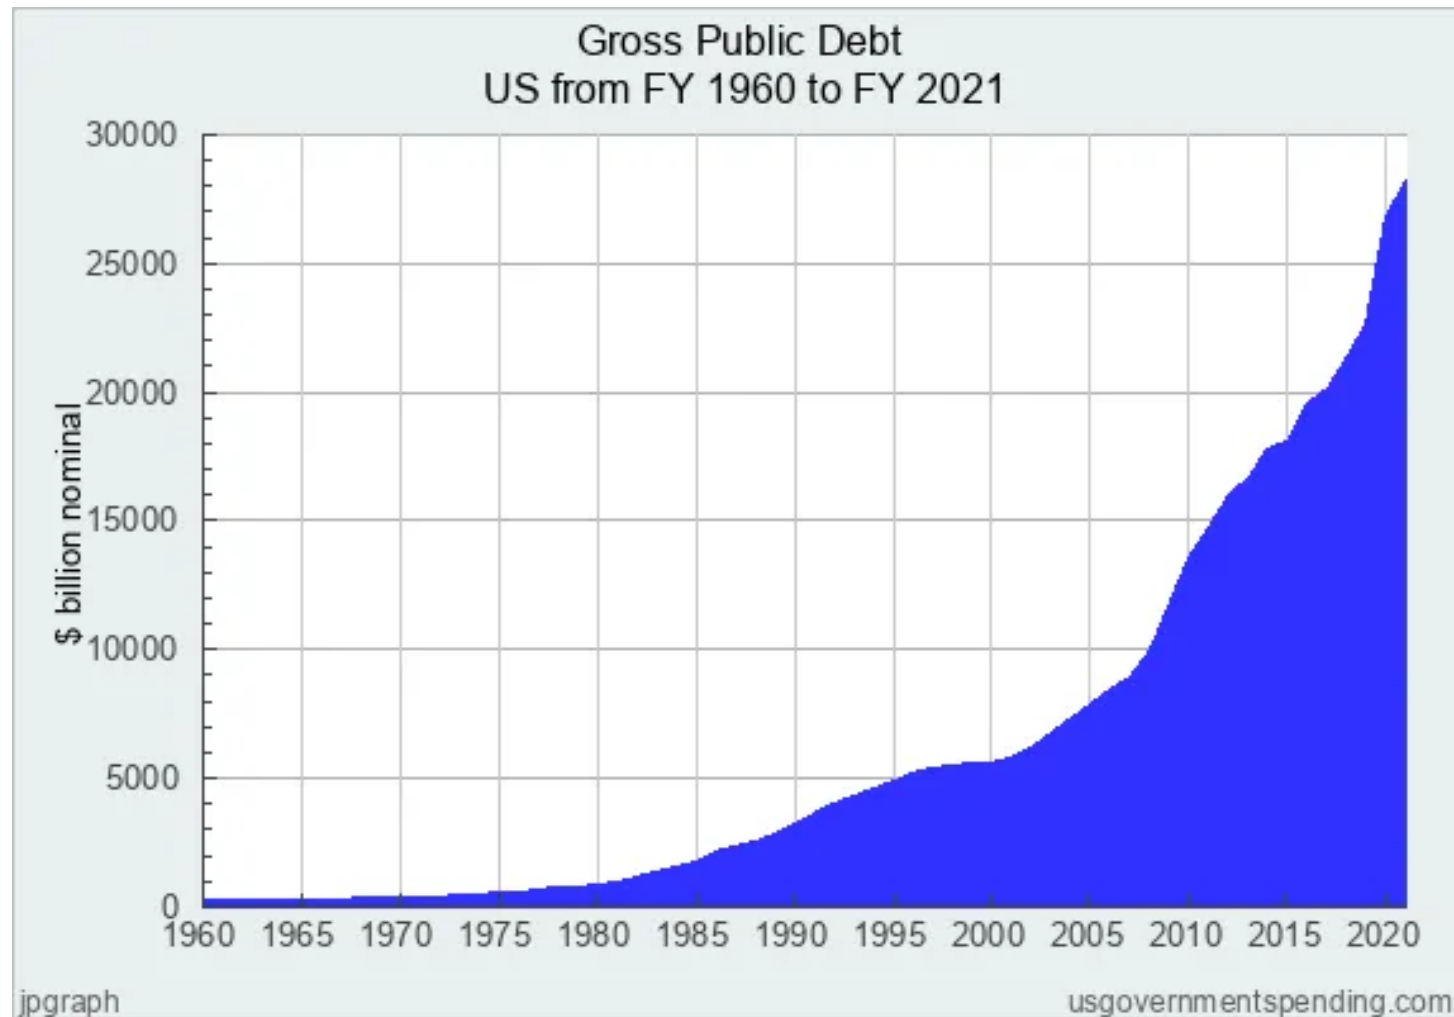

“If people only understood the rank injustice of our money and banking system, there would be a revolution by morning.”

U.S. PRESIDENT ANDREW JACKSON, 1834

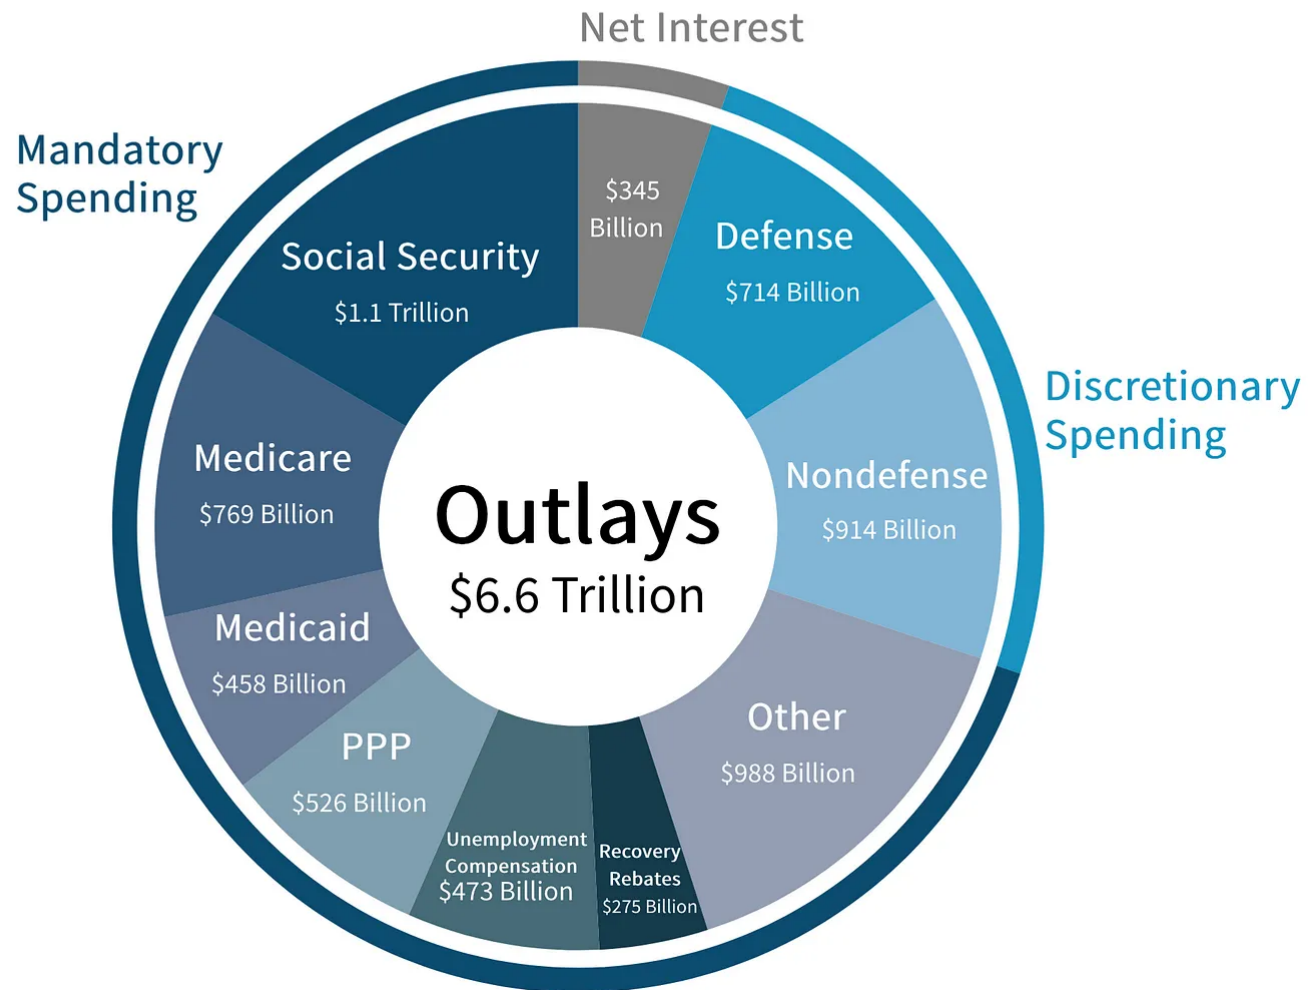

Debt monetization or monetary financing is the practice of a government borrowing money from the central bank to finance public spending instead of selling bonds to private investors or raising taxes. The central banks who buy government debt, are essentially creating new money in the process to do so. The largest holder of debt in the US is the Federal Reserve and they charge an interest on the American People to hold that debt. The larger the debt, the more money central banks make off interest.

The National Debt has only gone up and up, which means more and more interest the American People have to pay to the Federal Reserve. If the National Debt was at zero, the Federal Reserve would have no purpose.

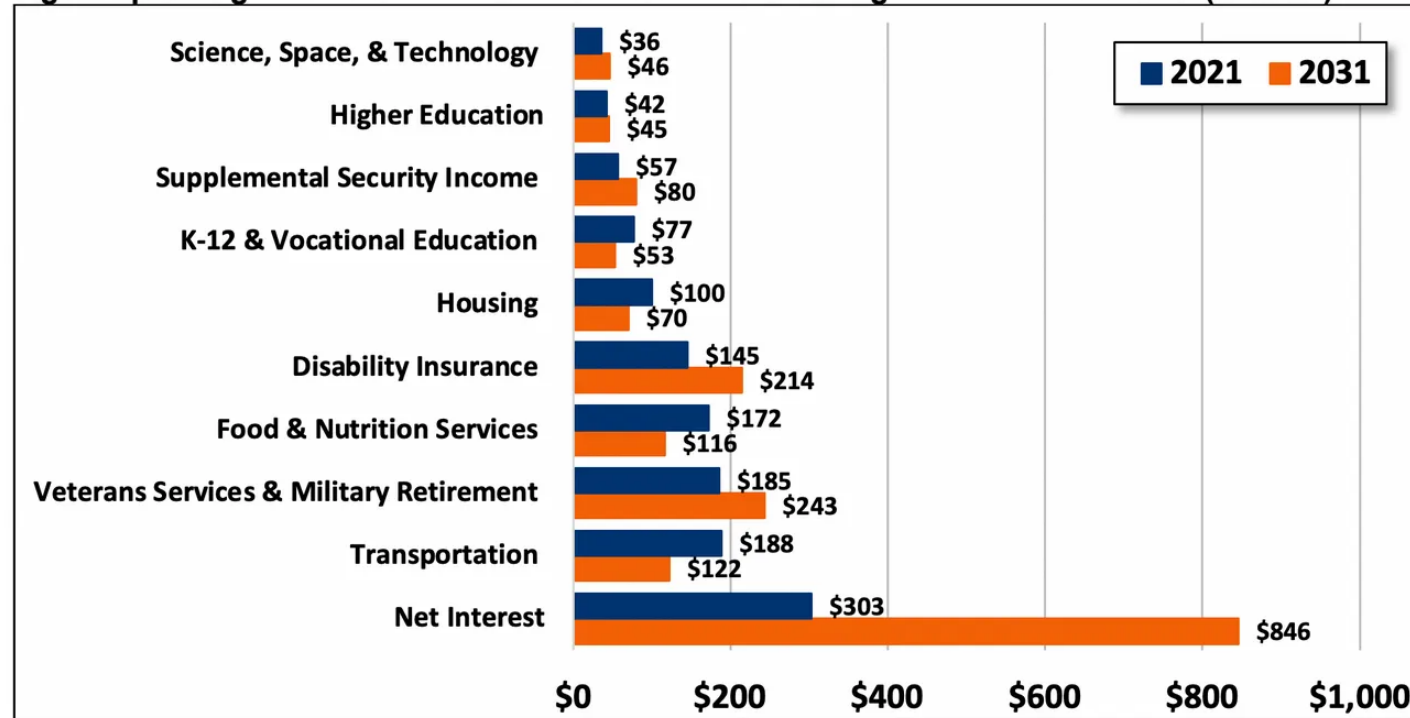

The amount of Net Interest that went straight to the Federal Reserve was $345 Billion in 2020. The numbers for 2021 haven't come out yet but it will be way bigger because that is when the stimulus packages for Covid came out and Biden's massive government programs. Also as you can see, the bigger the government spending, the bigger the debt gets and the more interest the cabal can make from the Federal Reserve.

Net Interest is expected to just keep getting bigger and bigger over the years as well. The roughly $300 billion the federal government will spend on interest payments this fiscal year is more than it is expected to spend on veterans' services and military retirement ($185 billion); transportation ($188 billion); food and nutrition services ($172 billion); housing ($100 billion); K-12 and vocational education ($77 billion); and higher education ($42 billion). By FY 2031, interest costs are projected to be larger than federal spending on Medicaid and unemployment compensation, and over 90% as large as defense spending.

Fig. 5: Spending on Net Interest and Other Areas of the Budget Under Current Law (Billions)

Source: Congressional Budget Office and CRFB calculations.

Whenever there is a cabal US President, you will see increase in spending and add-ons to make the government even bigger. The bigger the government, the more expenses on the economy, the bigger the national debt, which results in more money the Federal Reserve collects from interest on the debt. Do you see the cycle now?

Big Government

The largest contributor to the National Debt is Social Security and you will notice it has very similar origins to Income Tax. Remember, income tax came into the picture because of the US Civil War and never left. Social Security entered the US from the Great Depression with Franklin D. Roosevelt's Social Security Act of 1935.

FDR signing Social Security Act

A limited form of the Social Security program began, during President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term, as a measure to implement "social insurance" during the Great Depression of the 1930s. The Act was an attempt to limit unforeseen and unprepared-for dangers in modern life, including old age, disability, poverty, unemployment, and the burdens of widows with and without children.

The original plan was to help the elderly during the Depression but instead of disappearing after the economy recovered, it only became more and more bloated with more and more services.

Do you see how the cabal functions now? Create a serious event (US Civil War / Great Depression), enact a bill for immediate relief, then continue building on it for generations until it becomes normalized.

A generation later, in 1965, President Lyndon Johnson, also a Democrat, gave America Medicare, a health-benefits program for Americans over age 65. Johnson established two new cabinet agencies: the Department Housing and Urban Affairs (HUD) and the Department of Transportation (DOT). There was also the war on poverty, aid to urban areas (the Model Cities program), aid to low-income people, and money for education. There was also the cost of the Vietnam War.

LBJ adding Medicare to Social Security Act in 1965

The presidency of Richard Nixon (1969 to 1974) continued the trend of Big Government. Nixon was a Republican. During the Nixon years, the Environmental Protection Agency was established.

Adding EPA leadership

The final burst of Big Government came under President Barack Obama, a Democrat. Obama, in 2010, signed the Affordable Care Act, which provides health benefits to all Americans.

